MANNERS STILL MATTER!

Social media has become a love-hate relationship for many. This great tool for connecting has opened doors for bad, unacceptable behavior that is finding its way on and off line. Relationships have never been easy, and they can often be messy. Lorraine shares poignant stories and helps remind us how simple acts of kindness are the key to love and happiness.

The Golden Rule still applies, and we can all do a better job with common courtesies.

"It's time to manner up!"
